In the minds of the crowd Burns was Sherwood Magee. Only one man was out Pirate, had an easy time scoring from third base with the winning run. From all accounts he is a high himself on the edge of the charm into class player and worth the price haid for himself on the edge of the chasm into which he was soon to plunge. Howard Camnitz, the first man to face him in the tenth inning, fell a victim on strikes, but Bobby Byrne spanked out a single, the first off Tesreau since the opening inning. That was evidently the signal for the blow-off, for in rapid succession Jeff walked Knabe and Paskert, filling the bases, with only one down. Sherwood Magee, the lion of yesterday's victory, came up to the bat, hailed by the crowd. A triple was demanded, and a groan went up when his mighty drive went foul. The groan, however, soon changed to a cheer when Burns made his spectacular catch that allowed the winning run to cross the

It was only at the start and finish of the game that the home team was able to accomplish anything against the mammoth twirier from the Ozark Hills. In the first frame they poked out three of their four hits, and Byrne's single in the last frame made up the total. In the first frame, as in the last, the Phillies got two bases on balls. From the second to the ninth inning, however, the in-and-out monotony was broken only by a pass to Knabe in the second inning, another gift to Camnitz in the fourth and Doyle's bobble in the ninth on Cravath's grounder. Surprising probably had more friends than any of the others. but Major T. C. McDowell's Gracilla . full sister to De Mund and a winner at Saratoga, and The Usher were not without support. Gracilla, who, like De Mund, seems to be something of a mud runner, was out in front for three-eighths of the journey of five furlongs and a half, but The Usher and Surprising got to her at the turn for home and she stopped. Surprising and The Usher went on, battling desperately, First one and then the other had his head in front, but it was The Usher's music which caught the eye of the placing judge Surprising probably would have done better if Master Johnny McTaggart had put his whip away and taken the colts head up when he headed The Usher inside the last furlong. Johnny is not man enough to manage a heavy headed colt with one hand. Uncle Mun, who showed no great turn of speed in the backstretch came through the homestretch with fine speed and cap ured show money.

The first, a sprint of three-quarters of a mile for three-year-olds and over, was scratched down to five, and Progressive. the popular choice, delivered the goods Thomas F. Sheedy's plater took the lead at the turn out of the backstretch, when the whimsical Scallywag dropped sulkily back, and cleverly outran Scallywag when the latter came again in the homestratch Trifler, with too much weight in the saddle, brought up third.

Heartheat, lightly weighted, failed to beat Old Ben in the seven furiongs for two-year-olds, but he gave the Ben Brush gelding the battle of his life and his backers a genuine fright. An eighth of & mile out it did not look as though Old Ben could get to Heartbeat and Borel had to ride his best to win. Lily Orma third, was a long way back.

August Belmont and Jefferson Living ston have entered into a lively competent tion for a contract on the services of Master Johnny McTaggart, and that gifted youth's future will not be decided before Monday. Hugh Penny, a first rate rider himself a few seasons back, has Master Johnny under control.
